

The screenshot shows the GQ website interface. At the top, the GQ logo is displayed with the tagline "LOOK SHARP" and "LIVE". Below the logo is a navigation bar with categories: "Subscribe", "Style" (highlighted in yellow), "News + Politics", "Entertainment", "Women", "Sports", "Food + Travel", and "Cars". Underneath the navigation bar are sub-categories: "GQ RULES", "FASHION SHOWS", "THE GQ EYE", "THE STYLE GUY", "WEAR IT NOW", "ULTIMATE SUIT GUIDE", and "GROOMING". The main content area shows the breadcrumb "GQ > Style > The Style Guy" and social sharing options: "SHARE THIS", "PRINT", "E-MAIL", and "RSS". The article is titled "SHOES Finding cool slippers" and includes an illustration of a man in a pink shirt and a woman in a blue jacket. The text of the article discusses the importance of slippers for comfort and style, specifically mentioning Minnetonka's Double Deerskin slippers.

LOOK SHARP GQ LIVE

Subscribe Style News + Politics Entertainment Women Sports Food + Travel Cars

GQ RULES FASHION SHOWS THE GQ EYE THE STYLE GUY WEAR IT NOW ULTIMATE SUIT GUIDE GROOMING

GQ > Style > The Style Guy

SHARE THIS PRINT E-MAIL RSS

SHOES

Finding cool slippers

Is there such a thing as cool slippers? I want to lounge around the house this New Year's Day, and I want to look good—and feel comfortable—doing so.

You're waiting until New Year's Day to lounge around the house looking good? I hope this means you're turning over a new leaf and shall be found in that mode frequently ever after. It is a sad testament to our pop culture that most men don't have slippers; they wear flip-flops or, worse, old sneakers around the house. A life worth living includes robe, pajamas, and slippers. The best slippers I've ever found are made of quilted cashmere by Loro Piana of Italy. (I'm wearing them now.) You also can't go wrong with Minnetonka slippers, made by America's great moccasin maker. Go to www.minnetonkamoccasinshop.com and get the soft-soled Double Deerskin. They're comfortable enough for a tribal elder.

The Style Guy

Glenn O'Brien Solves Your Sartorial Conundrums

GQ's style editor thinks every man needs a proper pair of slippers, and "you can't go wrong with Minnetonka slippers.... especially the softsole Double Deerskin."
We agree!

GQ.com • December, 2009